Board of Directors' News

It is the goal of the Board to keep the community as well informed as possible. There are several methods by which this can be accomplished:

- The first is what you are doing right now, reading this article on the website. This information is up to date and can be located in the Board of Directors' section.
- The second is the Beacon, the official Greenbriar newsletter. The only problem is that the information maybe four weeks old, due to the printing schedule.
- The third is the flyer packet which is distributed in your mailboxes twice monthly and also posted on the Website in Color.
- The fourth, is the email blast which is sent to every resident who has registered their current email address. This is used to deliver information quickly to residents, but not used too much as to flood residents with an over abundant number of emails.
- The last type of communication, and used the least, is a separate flyer highlighting a specific event or significant information which is felt the community should know.

Community Board agendas are either placed in flyer packets or sent out as a separate flyer notice which ever coincides closer to the scheduled board meeting date. Starting this month the Board Agenda will be posted on the website and following the Board Meeting a synopsis of the meeting will be posted on the website, printed in the Beacon and either placed in a current flyer packet or sent as an email blast.

Your knowledge of what decisions are being made on your behalf, and your input on those decisions, are very important to this Board. So our goal is to keep you informed as many ways as possible.

On behalf of the Board of Directors, we wish everyone Happy Holidays and Healthy New Year!!
